I firmly believe that the proposal to join Apley Castle with Legomery is a backward step, what is the point & what about the cost involved, a total & utter waste of money. It wasn't that long ago (2009) that my particular area was changed from Leegomery to Apley a move supported by the vast majority of residents. The 2 wards in question have completely different identities & to a degree communities, the move would be to the detriment of both especially Apley.
